

Marcos (Marc) Campos, MAI, SRA started appraising in 1983 after graduating from Stanford University with a degree in Industrial Engineering. He started with residential properties and added multifamily and commercial properties a few years later. His current appraisal practice includes complex residential, subdivisions, condo or townhouse projects, and small commercial & industrial properties. About half of his work is done for lending purposes. The other half includes litigation support, estate valuation, and marketing.

He is CO-owner of Campos Appraisals Inc. He is a qualified expert witness in Snohomish, King and Island counties. Mr. Campos is an approved Appraisal Institute instructor, approved community college instructor, approved real estate instructor, AQB Certified USPAP Instructor, and a licensed designated real estate broker.

He has served in many Appraisal Institute Seattle chapter leadership positions including president in 2001. He served on the national board of directors of the Appraisal Institute from 2005 to 2007. A highlight of his appraisal career is that he appraised one of the most expensive houses ever listed in the NWMLS (it was at $40,000,000).

Marc has been married to Mary since 1977. They have two grown children. Marc's main hobbies are mountain climbing, hiking and maintaining the office computers. He has climbed the six highest mountains in Washington State; this includes eight successful ascents to the summit of Mt. Rainier.
